Professional Biography

Andy DeMoss joined Bradford Allen in the spring of 2005. In 2012, he was promoted to managing director within the Chicago office, where he represents both office tenants and office landlords. At the time of his promotion, he was the youngest managing director in the firm's history.

Andy provides a full range of services for his tenant representation clients including comprehensive market analysis, strategic site selection, lease negotiation, construction review, and sublease marketing. Working with clients across a wide spectrum of industries, he has helped numerous firms realize cost savings with his tenacious negotiating expertise, in-the-trenches market knowledge, and creative execution. The key to his approach is an emphasis on maximizing flexibility, allowing his clients to adapt to changing business conditions.

Over his tenure, Andy has leased eighteen properties of various sizes and asset classes across all major CBD submarkets. His efforts...
