Professional Biography

Craig joined Bradford Allen in 2007 and is a senior managing director with the firm. In 2014, he was elected to the Midwest Commercial Real Estate Hall of Fame. With over thirty successful years in the commercial real estate industry, Craig brings a wealth of experience to his role at Bradford Allen.

A seasoned and highly motivated professional, Craig expertly assists clients with relocations, expansions, and dispositions of excess space for a variety of entrepreneurial and mid-size businesses. He is dedicated to understanding his clients' business operations and requirements. By gathering this information, Craig is able to devise creative, client-specific real estate solutions. Craig is committed to helping not-for-profit organizations, such as Heartland Health Organization, Thresholds, and TPAN. As not-for-profit organizations are often underrepresented, he uses his expertise in commercial real estate and his aggressive negotiation skills on their behalf.
